THE WONDERS OF A WATCH.

Very few who carry a watch ever think of the unceasing labor it performs under what would be considered shabby treatment by any other machinery.

There are many who think that a watch ought to run for years without cleaning or a drop of oil. Read this and judge for yourself. The main wheel in an ordinary American watch makes four (4) revolutions a day of 24 hours, or 1,460 in a year. Next the center wheel 24 revolutions in a day, or 8,760 in a year. The third wheel 192 in a day, or $59 080 in a year. The fourth wheel 2,440 in a day, or 545,600 in a year. The fifth, or escape wheel 12,960 in a day, or 4,728,300 in a year. The ticks or beats are 388,800 in a day or 141,812,000 in a year

BUSINESS AND BANQUET.

Three o'clock yesterday afternoon the veterans of the 13th Illinois Infantry formed in line and were escorted by the Fargo Shoe Factory Band to Armory Hall, where the business meeting of the Reunion Association was held. After listening to an excellently rendered medley of patriotic tunes by the band, the meeting was called to order by President Bolles and opened with prayer by Chaplain Miller. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Secretary Webb and were approved.

Letters of regret and suggestion from the following absent comrades were then read by the secretary:

John Trowbridge, Metz, Ind.,
John VanSickels, Scranton, Iowa,
W. H. McMillan, Lake City, Minn.,
John G. Penny, Marshalltown, Iowa,

The following deaths were reported as having occured in the ranks during the past year: Francis Secord of Co. F; Pat Hartigan of Co. K., Frank McCarty of Co. B.; Chas. Thomas and P. T. Allen both of Co. C.

Numerous corrections were made in the list of Comrades as to present residence, etc., at the close of which Comrade Everest read Order No. 5, from Department Commander, G. A. R., with reference to Memorial Day service.

The report of the Regimental Historians was called for and responded to by Chaplain Miller, who reported the historical work completed and in the hands of the comrades; but regretted that much valuable information had come to hand after the book was printed. Comrade Munn reported that the committee had received many expressions of satisfaction from those who had received the book. Dr. Plummer said he knew of the arduous labor of the committee, and thought the result the most satisfactory and the book the most valuabe of any similar work he had ever read. Mention was made of the approval and great satisfaction expressed by Ex-President Hayes on a perusal of the book.

Comrade Newton moved that the thanks of the association be tendered to Comrades Miller and Munn for the admirable manner in which they had completed their task. Amended by Comrade Carpenter to include Comrade Newton. This was umaninously carried by a rising vote.

The report of the Committee of Publication was read by the President, C. E Bolles, who for the occasion called Dr Plummer to the chair. The report covered considerable ground; but the financial portion of it condensed is as follows:

Cash paid out for publication, etc	$1018 13
Cash received	873 90
Deficit	$ 144 23
Received from sale of books at this reunion	37 85
Present Deficit	$ 106 38

There remains in the hands of C. E. Bolles, 141 Kenzie street, Chicago, 104 books, which can be had for $2 each.

Comrade Carpenter moved that a committee be appointed by the chair to draft resolutions to the memory of deceased comrades of the glorious old 13th, to make their report before adjournment. The chair appointed Comrades Miller and Munn. This was a clever move to get these comrades out of hearing, as during their absence the chairman stated that he had on hand 18 copies of the History, in extra binding, which, if the comrades thought best, might be had on subscription at $5 each, the proceeds to be given as a slight token of appreciation, not as any adequate compensation, to Comrades Miller and Munn for their invaluable services in editing and compiling the book. The idea was unanimously adopted and ten of the books at once subscribed for, while the sum thus realized was augmented by contributions of smaller amounts from those who did not desire an extra copy of the book.

On motion, a nominating committee was appointed, of one member from each company to nominate officers for the ensuing year. The committee was composed as follows: Co. A—C. H. Noble. B—James Smith. C—W. H. Hale. D and E having no representatives were represented by Dr. Plummer. F—Z. B. Patridge. G—G. W. Knowles. H—Jas. Cliggett. I—David Hitchcock. K—J. W. Sucher. This committee, through their chairman, C. H. Noble, reported the following nominations of officers for the current year: President—Randolph Mostow of Co. H. Vice President—R. M. Hevenor of Co. F Secretary—Oscar A. Webb of Co A Treasurer C. H. Noble of Co. A. The report of the committee was unamimously adopted and the officers named elected.

It was moved by Dr. Plummer that the money collected for that purpose be at once handed over to the Historians, and Dr. Plummer was appointed to do the handing.

G. W. Knowles of Grand Junction invited the comrades to visit his home next fall and eat peaches. Which invitation was on motion of Judge Crabtree accepted with thanks.

The committee on resolutions having returned, reported the following:

WHEREAS, we have perhaps not made sufficient note of the decease of our comrades:

Resolved, that the association of the 13th Ills join in expressions of sympathy with the families and friends of our comrades deceased during the past year; and further, that from this time on we will put upon record as a supplement to our history not only the facts of the death of the comrade, but the time, place and

ARGUMENTS BEGUN

In the Case That Is Troubling Presbyterianism.

STATEMENT FOR THE PROSECUTION

Made by Rev. Dr. Birch—The Errors Alleged Against the Defendant—New York's Presbytery Criticized for Its Action—Dr. Briggs Takes the Floor With an Argument Claiming No Jurisdiction—Meetings of Other Religious Bodies.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Arguments in the Briggs case have begun and the audience that listened to them was one that packed the church. The ladies had the gallery and they completely filled it while the floor was as fully occupied by clergymen and prominent laymen. The first thing settled was the time to be occupied in debate and Professor Briggs got the five hours he wanted; also permission to read a number of complaints and have them printed. Rev. Dr. Birch, chairman of the prosecuting committee, then took the floor and gave the history of the case. He said the presbytery of New York had disobeyed the decree of the assembly by declining to express itself on the basis of the charges against Dr. Briggs.

Ground of the Presbytery's Acquittal.

The presbytery had acquitted the defendant on the ground that although he might deny that Moses wrote the law which the Gentile Christians observed; although there were cases where church and reason could do what the Bible could not do—enable a man to find God—yet that such statements did not transgress the limits of liberty allowed under the constitution of the Presbyterian church to scholarship and opinion. Dr. Birch said: "We are here to invoke this supreme court to put an end to the dissension and disputation which the New York presbytery vainly endeavored to silence, first by the dismissal of the case against Dr. Briggs, and, second, by the acquittal of Dr. Briggs, qualifying both the dismissal and the acquittal by the positive disclaimer of any approval of the controverted statements of the inaugural address."

Fundamental Errors Charged.

"The errors charged are fundamental. The charges relate: First, to the question as to the supreme and only authority in matters of faith and practice; second, to the question as to the inerrancy or truthfulness of the inspired word of God; third, to the historical validity of the Old Testament; fourth, as to the fulfillment of Messianic prediction—a question of supreme importance in its bearing upon the view which is taken of the truthfulness of Scripture and of the truthfulness of God; fifth, and lastly, there is the doctrine of redemption concerning which it has been alleged that Professor Briggs' teachings have been especially erroneous and hurtful."

Summary of the Doctor's Argument.

Dr. Birch then proceeded to argue the case. He antagonized the proposition of the defense that an appeal cannot be taken from a verdict of acquittal. Of those who had supported Dr. Briggs not one in a hundred would now subscribe to the inaugural address—which is the cause of the trouble. The Presbyterian church would not be justified in tolerating what in other churches was called broad-church principles. The questions before the court were to be answered for all American Presbyterians and for years to come. He then appealed to the court to make every plea for delay of judgment out of order and protect the communion from the peril of broadness which "will empty our souls of conviction and our hearts of victory."

DR. BRIGGS MAKES REPLY.

He Protests Against the Appeal Being Entertained.

At the close of Dr. Birch's address Dr. Briggs arose. He protested against the entertaining of the appeal by the general assembly. He stated the question, and quoted the law which prohibits the employment of professional counsel in such cases, saying that if permitted to do so he would have employed such professional counsel for the reason that it was doubtful if he could present his case as it should be done. This situation was one that was forced upon him by the book of discipline, which made it necessary for him to rise above personal consideration, and to appear as the attorney for Dr. Briggs.

The question before the assembly was not, he said, whether or not Dr. Briggs' teachings were proper, but whether or not the appeal could be lawfully entertained. The first thing to be decided was whether the form of the appeal was correct; not whether any matters exist which might justify the sustaining of the appeal. If there was any want of form or detail in the appeal the general assembly could not lawfully take jurisdiction.

The appeal was invalid because it included much besides the vote of the presbytery and the reasons therefore. He argued from the start on technicalities and quoted the law of the church to sustain his position. He sketched the legal and ecclesiastical definitions of heresy and the history and manner of dealing therewith. The punishment therefor might affect or destroy a man's ecclesiastical life, and therefore it was a question whether a man should twice be placed in jeopardy. He contended that this was an attempt to force a man to teach more than was required by the church standards, which might be good club law, but was not good ecclesiastical law.

The church was never reformed or revised by the will of the majority. The fundamental question involved was whether the church was a voluntary society or a church of Jesus Christ. He discussed the law of appeals, and declared that the prosecuting committee had no right of appeal. The church was not responsible for all the doctrines of its ministers; and it was not certain that the decisions of the general assembly finally determined questions of doctrine or morals.

After speaking an hour and a half the professor yielded to a motion to adjourn.

Lutherans in Session at Canton.

CANTON, O., May 25.—The city is filled with ministers and visitors to the thirty-sixth biennial convention of the general synod of the Lutheran church of the United States. Fully 250 delegates, representing nearly every section of the country were present at the opening session, which was held at the Trinity Lutheran church. The session consisted of devotional exercises and the synodical sermon by Rev. J. A. Clutz, of Atchison, Kan.

Baptist Publication Society.

DENVER, Col., May 25.—The first session of the American Baptist Publication society was called to order in the First Baptist church by President S. A. Crozer, of Pennsylvania. The attendance in the morning was small, scarcely more than the officers of the society being present. Hundreds of delegates and other visitors are riding about the city on the street car lines and visiting points of interest about the city. The report of Secretary Griffith, of the Publication society, shows a healthful growth in the volume of publications, with ample means at hand to carry on the work.

United Presbyterians.

MONMOUTH, Ills., May 25.—The thirty-fifth general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America has convened in this city. The 300 accredited delegates are about all present. Moderator McDill delivered the opening sermon from Hebrews, chapter i, verse 1. An eastern state will probably supply the new moderator. The committee on home missions presented its report to the assembly this morning.

The Cumberland Presbyterians.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 25.—The woman question has been settled in the Cumberland Presbyterian assembly by the adoption of a report to submit the question of making women eligible to ruling elderships to the presbyteries, and churches are asked not to ordain any more women until the question is settled. The assembly adjourned sine die at midnight.

COMPARATIVE DEVELOPMENT

To Be Tested at Washington—A Definite Relation That Is Wanted.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—A curious experiment is to be tried in the public schools here. Superintendent Powell and Dr. Harris, of the government bureau of education, wish to find by actual experiment whether or not there can be established any certain relation between the physical and mental development of the children in the various grades. They have accordingly perfected plans for taking the measurement of 20,000 of the school children of the nation's capital according to the celebrated Bertillon method, which, in France, where it originated, and this country heretofore, has been confined almost exclusively to the criminal classes.

The director of physical training in the schools will conduct the experiments. When the results of the measurement are tabulated it is believed they will disclose whether there is any definite relation between the physical and mental developments of the pupils, and if this relation is satisfactorily established it will be used to advantage in guarding the teachers as to the amount of work that may be required of a pupil, in many cases preventing an overstraining of those whose physical development does not keep pace with their mental and pointing out as well when more work can be required of a pupil without fear of injury.

TWO SHOT AND ONE STABBED.

A Criminal Infatuation Results in a Bloody Affair at Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Crazed by his infatuation for another man's wife Hugh Etter, a sleeping-car porter, shot and killed Davitt Sherrell, also colored, stabbed and dangerously wounded Police Officer Wilson E. Harris, and was himself shot by Officer Owen O'Connor. Etter called upon Mrs. Annie Roberts, colored, at Twenty-sixth and La Salle streets, and found Sherrell sitting on the sofa talking with Mrs. Roberts. This enraged Etter, although it was Mrs. Roberts with whom he was infatuated. Drawing a revolver he fired at Sherrell, wounding him so that he died on the way to the hospital.

Officer Harris was passing and heard the shooting and when Etter came out he arrested him after a short chase. While waiting at a patrol box for a wagon Etter suddenly stabbed Harris a half dozen times with a pocket knife. A desperate struggle ensued for possession of the officer's revolver, Etter finally securing it, and when about to shoot Officer O'Connor came up and opened fire, one ball passing through Etter's abdomen. Both Harris and Etter will probably die.

Legislation for Michigan.

LANSING, May 25.—The bill creating a naval militia, to be stationed on the great lakes, was passed by both houses of the legislature, and is one of the most important measures of the session. The bill providing for the taxation of church property was effectually put to sleep in the house, the measure receiving but thirty-four votes on its third reading. The bill creating a commission for the purpose of experimenting with a view to ascertaining the best methods of reclaiming the pine barrens of the state was also killed. The senate passed a bill appropriating $75,000 for the erection of an asylum for the insane in the upper peninsula. The senators amended the bill incorporating lodges of Orangemen by providing that members shall not be required to take any oath in violation of the constitution.

Doings of the Whisky Trust.

PEORIA, Ills., May 25.—The board of directors of the Distilling and Cattle Feeding company met in this city and the session continued all day. All the board were present except Green, of Cincinnati. About all that could be learned was that the board had asked the distributors to take all the stock of spirits on hand so as to raise funds to meet present urgent demands, which the distributors refused and offered to buy at net prices independent of the rebate system, which the board declined. All the opposition houses here will close down about June 1.

Should Have Been Home With a Gun.

RIPON, Wis., May 25.—A mob of about thirty-five men went at night to the home of Lorenzo Smith, a farmer living near Berlin, with the intention of tarring and feathering Smith and his wife. The intended victims escaped, and the mob after emptying the tar and feathers on the floors of the house, nailed up the notice, "Leave town," and departed. Smith, it is said, abandoned his first wife and married a German servant girl.

Turned Up After Thirty Years.

RICHMOND, Va., May 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clancy, of Washington, N. C., have had restored to them their long lost son. He is a fine looking man, 32 years old. When 4 years old the son disappeared mysteriously and for weeks the entire neighborhood searched for him. Finally it was concluded he had been kidnaped by men in a tobacco wagon that had been seen on the road that day. He was recognized by a book agent.

Brooklyn Bridge Celebrated.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The tenth anniversary of the opening of the New York and Brooklyn bridge was closed by a display of flags on the lofty summits of the towers in commemoration of the date which marked the initial use of the suspended highway linking the two cities.

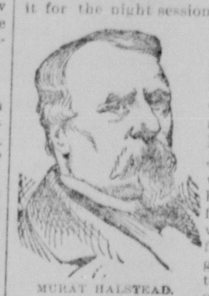
ADDRESSES BY PROMINENT PEOPLE

Murat Halstead Talks of Limitations of Journalism—The Publishers Discuss Labor Saving Machines and Type Measurement—John Bull's Day at Jackson Park—Anti-Annexation Talk—Indians Help Celebrate.

CHICAGO, May 25.—The programme for the Press congress had some big names on it for the night session, but only one was represented at the Columbus hall by its owner. Murat Halstead was the one and he made an address on "The Limitations of Journalism" which was what might have been expected from so much of a veteran in the profession. The programme also contained the names of General John B. Walker, of New York, and Mr. Blowitz, the celebrated European correspondent, but if he was in town he hadn't appeared.



MURAT HALSTEAD.

Other Topics That Were Discussed.

He had been set down for an address. The topic for this morning was "The Ethics of Journalism," on which an address was delivered by Miss Lillian Whiting, of Massachusetts, and the discussion was led by Mrs. Ella Peattie, of Nebraska. The other addresses were "The Reflex Influence of the Social Column on Society," by Miss Mary P. Nimmo, of Washington, and Miss Belle Grant Armstrong, of Massachusetts, "The Evolution of the Newspaper Woman," by Mrs. Eliza Archard Connor, of New York, and Mrs. Ida J. Harper, of Indiana; "The Ideal Journalist," by Miss Hester A. Poole, of New Jersey, and "Modern Progress Among Oriental Women," by Mme. Hanna Karany, of Beyroot, Arabia. At 3 p. m. the Editorial association began a popular discussion in a sort of go-as-you-please season of oratory, in which anything that came first was the subject for the time.

Publishers Talk About Mechanics.

The publishers discussions so far have been mostly mechanical—about labor saving machinery. The great want now felt is a machine that will fold, wrap and address 'steen thousand or so papers a minute, and at the last meeting of the association a committee was appointed to inquire into the matter. Hoskins, of Nashville, had found a machine with a capacity of only 3,500 papers an hour, which in fact had only been operated so far by hand. John Morris, business manager of the New York World, cross-examined Mr. Hoskins closely about the mailing machine, and S. H. Kauffmann, of the Washington Star, and Mr. Scott also joined in the discussion.

Measurement of Type.

As the matter of folding, etc., was worth $1,000 a week to some papers it was finally decided to set mailing room experts on the track, the association to pay the expenses. The measurement of type has been a bone of contention between "prints" and their employers, and a committee had been in conference with the Typographical union, type founders, and others interested. The result of the conference was the recommendation of a new system of measuring type by which whether the type were "lean" or "fat" the compensation paid the compositor would be uniform. It was expected that this recommendation would be acted upon, but it was referrred to the executive committee with power to act.

Reception and Collation.

The National Press league gave a splendid reception in the evening at the Auditorium for the members of the press congress. The occasion was entirely social, the object being to extend a genial welcome to visiting guests, and about 1,800 representative pen men and women of the United States, members of the Press club, delegates to the National Editorial association and many social leaders attended. The decorations were superb and a dainty collation was served. The receiving party were Miss Mary Kront, president of the National Press league; Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Charles Henrotin, Mrs. L. W. Bates and Mrs. Frank Davidson.

MISS LILIAN WHITING.

MASSEY IS AN INJURED MAN.

He Wants to Resign His Chairmanship—Doings at the Fair Grounds.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, May 25.—The action of the national commission in abiding by the new law submitted by the local directory opening the gates of the fair on Sunday has caused considerable dissension in that body, and resulted in the resignation of Mr. Massey from the chairmanship of the judiciary committee, which rendered two reports on the Sunday closing question. When the commission was called to order fifteen members were lacking to make a quorum. Massey was given the floor, and said the action of the body in adopting the minority report as a substitute for the majority report on the Sunday opening matter seemed to indicate a lack of confidence in his committee.

He said that on three or four occasions the commission had failed to act upon reports rendered on matters referred to his committee and this action was plainly a vote of "no confidence" in the ability of the judiciary committee, of which he was chairman. He had no feeling in the matter, he said, and hoped his associates, for whom he had the highest regard, would accept his resignation as chairman of the judiciary committee. There was general objection to this from nearly all the commissioners present, which was condensed into a resolution introduced by Myers of Kentucky, to the effect that the commission refuse to accept the resignation and tender Mr. Massey a vote of thanks for the all-work of his committee and renewed confidence in its members.

The commissioners who rose one after another to eulogize Chairman Massey and ask him please not to resign, so played upon the emotion of that body that it really looked at one time as if the tearful scene which followed Mrs. Potter Palmer's "bluff" at resigning from the woman's board, would be repeated in the commission. Finally Massey was given twenty-four hours to think over what he had said and try to reconcile his conscience with remaining at the head of the judiciary committee. There was a slim attendance of the commission, but that did not prevent Hundley, of Alabama, from resurrecting the corpse of Sunday closing and there will be more postmortem talking.

The council of administration has promulgated two important general orders. The first was one directing Howard Tucker, superintendent of the bureau of admissions, to throw the gates of the park wide open next Sunday. The second provides that the gates will be open hereafter until 11 o'clock and the buildings until 10:30 p. m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays of each week. In addition to these regular opening evenings special nights will be designated by the council from time to time as required by extra attractions to be provided. On the regular opening evenings the Chicago, Cincinnati and Sousa's bands will play alternately every half hour.

CELEBRATION BY BRITISHERS.

They Keep the Queen's Birthday and Denounce Annexation.

The celebration at the park of Queen Victoria's birthday by Canadians and Britishers was an enthusiastic protest against annexation to the United States of Canada. The Rev. Leonard Gaetz, of the Northwest territory, characterized the annexationists of Ontario and Quebec as "vigorous kickers" who ought to cross the borders if they wanted to cease being British subjects. George R. Cockburn, member of parliament for Toronto; Senator Perley, of the Northwest territory, who presided; Commissioner Fenwick, of New South Wales, and representatives of Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec, Ceylon, India, British Guinea and Jamaica denounced any attempt to break the ties which bound the colonies to the British empire. Many pleasantries were indulged in at the expense of Uncle Sam, Chicago and Americans. The fervor of the assembly's patriotism was expressed by the singing of "God Save the Queen," "Red, White and Blue," "Rule Britannia," and other British songs.

A curious feature of the celebration was that it was taken part in by the Quackuhl Indians, who form part of the ethnological department of the fair. Their home is on Vancouver Island, and they proved themselves loyal subjects of Victoria. The whole band of this queer looking race of North American Indians boarded the big war canoe which they brought from Canada and embarked on the south pond near where they are quartered. All were decked in holiday dress, their faces were daubed with paint, and their spirits appeared to be as gay as the colors of their trappings. The British flag of the naval regulation was unfurled from the stern of the rough, unwieldy boat, and the folds blew in the face of the Quackuhl chief, who stood erect with a tambourine in his hands. Each side of the boat was manned by braves who guided and rowed it with paddles. Another Quackuhl stood at the prow, and the center of the boat was occupied by squaws and pappooses. On reaching the grand basin the boatload of braves stood up and howled and danced to the jingle of the tambourine in the chief's hands.

Crowds of New York society people continue to pour in town. The great influx, however, will not occur until after the social festivities attending the reception and visit of the Infanta Eulalie.

The first of the European excursions to the exposition arrived in the city, one German and one French. They numbered seventy-one people, amongst them persons of high degree.

The Chicago Apollo club of 400 voices, the Exposition orchestra of 150 pieces guided by the baton of William L. Tomlins, rendered Mendelsohn's oratorio "Elijah" in the afternoon in Music hall. The solo parts were taken by Lillian Nordica, soprano; Christine Neilson Dreier, contralto; Plunkett Greene, basso, and Whitney Mockridge, tenor.

The paid admissions at the World's fair grounds for the day numbered 40,980. Financers of the World's fair are congratulating themselves on the fact that the exposition is already making money. The daily reports received by Auditor Ackerman show that in spite of unfavoable weather and generous treatment of concessionaires, the exposition company is now receiving more than $5,000 a day above the running expenses.

On the Base Ball Field.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Anson's colts are on their mettle. To have licked the "Spiders" once was a great feat, but to have repeated the dose a second time drove the cranks to the verge of joyous insanity. Following are the League scores: At Chicago—Cleveland 5, Chicago 13; at Pittsburg—St. Louis 7, Pittsburg 8; at Baltimore—New York 16, Baltimore 11; at Brooklyn—Washington 1, Brooklyn 7; at Boston—Philadelphia 6, Boston 15.

Southern Underwriters in Session.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The Southern Tariff association, composed entirely of underwriters, is holding a convention here. One of the main objects of the association is to bring about better building laws and get the people to erect better houses, and also have them adopt better fire preventive methods.

AT POE'S GRAVE.

Cold is the paean honor sings,
And chill is glory's icy breath,
And pale the garland memory brings
To grace the iron jaws of death.

Fame's echoing thunders, long and loud,
The pomp of pride that seeks the pall,
The plaudits of the vacant crowd—
One word of love is worth them all.

With dews of grief our eyes are dim;
Ah, let the tear of sorrow start
And honor in ourselves and him
The great and tender human heart!

Through many a night of want and woe
His frenzied spirit wandered wild—
Till kind disaster laid him low,
And heaven reclaimed its wayward child.

Through many a year his fame has grown,
Like midnight, vast & like starlight, sweet,
Till now his genius fills a throne,
And nations marvel at his feet.

One meed of justice long delayed,
One crowning grace his virtues crave—
Ah, take, thou great and injured shade,
The love that sanctifies the grave!

God's mercy guard in peaceful sleep
The sacred dust that slumbers here,
And while around this tomb we weep
God bless for us the mourner's tear!

And may his spirit, hovering nigh,
Pierce the dense cloud of darkness through
And know, with fame that cannot die,
He has the world's affection too!

WASHINGTON CLERKSHIPS.

Something of the Routine and Habits of the Government Employees.

A great many young men secure places in the departments merely for the purpose of supporting themselves while they are studying in the great schools of law and medicine here. Matters are so arranged at these institutions that a clerk who stops work at 4 p. m. can get dinner and be on hand for the evening lectures which begin at 6.

The annual vacation of the clerks is 15 days, in addition to which they are allowed 30 days' sick leave in each year.

Whenever there is a legal holiday, there is usually a half holiday on the day previous. The clerk takes the working part of that half day off. This gives him two days clear. But on the day before the half holiday he goes to the chief of his bureau and asks permission to leave at 2:30 p. m., so as to catch a train.

Thus the single day's holiday is expanded into two days and a half. The ingenuity with which such affairs are managed is said to be wonderful. However, it should be explained that two-thirds of the employees rarely take a day of the sick leave allowed them.

If a clerk is absent on account of illness over 60 days in any year, he or she must pay a substitute. The civil service commission provides all the substitutes that are wanted. It is provided that the clerks shall give to the substitute a certain proportion of the pay, usually amounting to about 5 per cent.

By thus hiring a substitute a clerk might retain his place in the service of the government for years, though himself blind, paralyzed and confined to his bed. In all cases of sickness a physician's certificate is required. Not long ago the treasury department made a rule to the effect that such certificates must always state the nature of the complaint. But the local medical society resolved in formal council that such a thing was out of the question, and so the regulation fell to the ground.

Any secretary can by a simple order increase the working hours of the clerks in his department to any extent which he thinks desirable.—Washington Star.

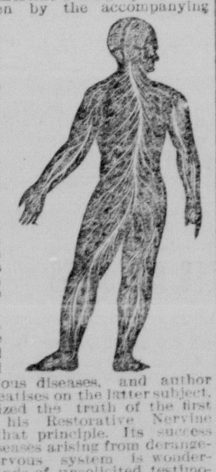
SURROUNDED BY MYSTERY!

A Great Mistake.

A recent discovery is that headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion of the mind, etc., are due to derangement of the nerve centers which supply the brain with nerve force; that indigestion, dyspepsia, neuralgia, wind in stomach, etc., arise from the derangement of the nerve centers supplying these organs with nerve fluid or force. This is likewise true of many diseases of the heart and lungs. The nerve system is like a telegraph system, as will be seen by the accompanying cut. The little white lines are the nerves which convey the nerve force from the nerve centers to every part of the body, just as the electricity current is conveyed along the telegraph wires to every station, large or small. Ordinary physicians fail to regard this fact; instead of treating the nerve centers for the cause of the disorders arising therefrom they treat the part affected.



Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., the highly celebrated specialist and student of nervous diseases, and author of many noted treatises on the latter subject, long since realized the truth of the first statement, and his Restorative Nervine is prepared on that principle. Its success in curing all diseases arising from derangement of the nervous system is wonderful, as the thousands of unsolicited testimonials in possession of the company manufacturing the remedy amply prove.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is a reliable remedy for all nervous diseases, such as headache, nervous debility, prostration, sleeplessness, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

Restorative Nervine positively contains no opiates or dangerous drugs.

MISSOURI PACIFIC TRAIN ROBBED.

No Respecters of Persons, the Highwaymen Make No Moment of the Fact That Missouri's Governor and Treasurer Are on Board. The Express Car Blown Open With Dynamite and the Safe Looted of a Large Sum.

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—A daring express robbery occurred thirty miles south from St. Louis on the Missouri Pacific road, about one and a half miles west of Pacific Mo., and the car of the Pacific Express company was looted. As 9:30 p. m. the Missouri Pacific express No. 8, which leaves St. Louis nightly at 8:30 o'clock, arrived at Pacific a few miles east of Washington, Mo. The train was heading westward and carried not only over $40,000 in money, but the precious persons of Governor Stone and State Treasurer Stephens.

Seven Robbers in the Gang.

It seems that the robbers, seven in number, boarded the train at Pacific and waited until the train had pulled out about one and a half miles before they showed their true colors. At a favorable spot—evidently previously agreed upon—three of the robbers climbed over the tender of the engine, and soon brought the train to a standstill. While two guarded the engine crew, the remaining five, wearing no masks, returned to the express car and demanded that the door be opened.

It Wasn't Proof Against Dynamite.

Suspecting that something evil was was about to happen the express messenger not only refused to open the door, but further proceeded to foil the progress of the robbers by barring the entrance with such baggage as he could lay his hands on. A further demand from the spokesman of the highway band, urging the express messengar to open up, receiving no answer the robbers proceeded to place a dynamite cartridge under the door and blow it open. The crash was deafening and tore a hole nearly two feet square in the woodwork, scattering the interior obstructions in every direction.

Reward of $300 for Each.

The governor has offered a reward of $300 for the capture of each man. Posses have been sent out from St. Louis, Washington, and Pacific, and it is believed the robbers will be captured. It has been learned that the robbers went north from the railway. As the Missouri river is but a short distance north of the place where the robbery occurred Assistant Chief Reedy came to the conclusion that the robbers probably entered a skiff and either crossed the river or are floating down.

The Seven Will Divide $40,000.

As stated in the foregoing there was $40,000, so it is alleged, in the safe and the robbers are believed to have gotten the whole sum.

WIFE MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Woman Nearly Decapitated Because She Applied for Divorce.

GREEN BAY, Wis., May 25.—Mrs. Mettie Marlo, living near Fort Howard, has been killed by her husband, John Marlo. The couple had quarreled for a long time, and Mrs. Marlo had applied for a divorce. This so enraged her husband that during the night he killed her, almost severing the head from the body with a butcher's cleaver. A posse started out in pursuit of him as soon as the murder was discovered, and about noon found his body hanging to a tree, shot through the head. He had committed suicide.

His Heart on the Wrong Side.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 25.—A case of radical displacement of the heart, and the patient still alive and able to do a good day's work, is causing much stir in medical circles in this state. About a year ago A. L. Kinsley, a young druggist of Waco, Tex., became afflicted with pleurisy, and as the disease progressed his heart was forced from the left to the right side of the body, and so near the surface that the pulsations are remarkably strong. The pressure of the heart against the right lung produces shortness of breath, but otherwise Kinsley suffers no inconvenience.

The Engineer Was Killed.

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—The south bound express train No. 6 on the Frisco railroad was wrecked by an open open switch near Vernon, Mo. The engine left the rails and rolled down the embankment; the baggage and mail cars were derailed, Engineer Mansfield was carried down with the engine and was fatally injured. Fireman Smith and three tramps named Harry Eaton, Henry Mitchell and J. D. Boly were slightly injured. The switch had evidently been tampered with by tramps.

The Campania Bides Her Time.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The Campania on her present trip will not attempt to lower the westward record. She is coming over the southern course, which is somewhat longer than that taken by the Paris when she made the record, and it will not be until July 10 that the Campania will take the northern and shorter course to this port. Then, say the Cunard officials, the westward time from Queenstown will be lowered in a degree to surprise even the most sanguine.

Eulalie Goes to Mt. Vernon.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The Infanta Eulalie, accompanied by the cabinet members and their wives, the diplomatic corps and others, on board the steamer McAllister, which flew the flags of the United States, Spain, England and France, visited the tomb of Washington. At night she gave a reception and later attended Queen Victoria's birthday celebration at the British embassy. She left here today for New York.

Dastardly Deed of a Tramp.

MASON CITY, Ia., May 25.—Charles Towne and wife, living two miles north of Plymouth, were shot by a tramp. The tramp had asked for something to eat and was refused. Returning to the house later he fired through a window, the shots striking one in the head and the other in the breast. Both parties are yet living. No arrest has been made.

Farnham Post Will Go It Alone.

The strongest recommendation that any article can have is the endorsement of the mothers of the town. When the mothers recommend it you may know that article has more than ordinary merit. Here is what the Centerville, South Dakoto, Citizen says editorially of an article sold in their town: "From personal experience we can say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has broken up bad colds for our childern. We are acquainted with many mothers in Centerville who would not be without it in the house for a good many times its cost, and are recommending it every day." 50 cent bottles for sale by W. D. A. H. MILLER,
A. B. MUNN.

COMRADE ROBERT MILLIGAN.

WHEREAS, a lamentable mistake has crept into the records of the Adjutant General's office at Springfield, Illinois, which erroneously records Robert Milligan, Co. F, Thirteenth Illino's Infantry, as a deserter during the late war; and while these records have been corrected and a certificate of honorable discharge sent to Comrade Milligan, it was not soon enough to prevent the error being copied into a portion of the Regimental History, and

WHEREAS, notwithstanding Comrade Milligan's papers now show an honorable discharge, and that his old captain, E. F. Dutton, writes him that "you were a good and true soldier, as I distinctly remember." Therefore be it

Resolved, that the surviving members of the regiment, now in reunion, and in committee of the whole, on this 24th day of May, 1893, at Dixon, Illinois, not only emphatically endorse Comrade Dutton's estimate of Comrade Milligan's army service, but after a careful examination of the documentary evidence, do, with unanimous voice declare that Comrade Milligan's military record is spotless. And be it further

Resolved, that these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this annual meeting.

DEATH OF MRS. CHARLES CARPENTER.

WHEREAS, The sacrifices of our noble Union women were scarcely less instrumental in the suppression of the "Great Rebellion" than were those of the patriots who shouldered the musket and marched to the front in 1861, and

WHEREAS, these patriot mothers, wives, sisters and daughters, with the dying veterans, are also fast passing away, therefore

Resolved, that the association of the surviving veterans of the Thirteenth Regiment, Illinois Infantry, has heard with profound sorrow of the death of Mrs. Charles Carpenter, and as her presence while living always brought cheer and inspiration to our reunions and camp-fires, may our united sympathies serve to dispel, somewhat, the shadow hanging over Comrade Carpenter's desolate home, and the hearts of himself and kindred be strengthened and sustained in their great affliction. And be it further

Resolved, that as death carries memory with it to the grave, the virtues of our loved ones lost, should go into recorded history, so as not to be forgotten; and that the death of our patriot women should find its appropriate record alongside that of the veteran soldier.

Dr. Plummer moved the adoption of these resolutions and the discharge of the committee, and stepping up to Comrades Miller and Munn, paid them off—in other words, made the little presentation of finds in his hands, which amounted to $67.75; of which the recipients made graceful acknowledgment.

Comrade Buyers, of Sterling, moved a vote of thanks to Comrades Bolles and Noble for the interest they had taken and the risks assumed in the publication and circulation of the Regimental History; after which the Association adjourned to meet for a banquet at 7:30 o'clock at the Nachusa House.

In the evening, for an hour preceeding the banquet, the soldiers and their ladies on the porch and in the parlors of the Nachusa House were entertained and delighted with most excellent music from the Fargo Shoe Factory band under the skillful leadership of Prof. Will Smith. It was nearly eight o'clock when the dining hall was thrown open and the guests took their places at the elegantly spread tables. Plates were laid for about 75 and nearly every chair was filled. At one end of the central table sat Chaplian Miller, who invoked a divine blessing on the feast; at the other sat the distinguished guest of the regiment, General T. J. Henderson, M. C. In the bountiful repast spread before the soldiers and their friends, as well as in the elegant manner with which it was served, Landlord Orvis fully sustained the reputation of his house and of our city for hospitality, as the following menu will indicate:

The various groups around the tables while enjoying this rich repast, were further entertained with music by the Mandolin Club and indulged in social chat for fully an hour, when the ladies retired to the parlors, the gentlemen to the office, where many of the latter enjoyed a social smoke.

The tables having been cleared the company again repaired to the dining hall, and at 9:30 were called to order by President Bolles, who requested Surgeon Plummer to tell how and why he recently visited the battle grounds of Look Out Mountain and Mission Ridge. This he did, stating that the 1st Division had never received full credit for the heroic service rendered on these fields, and his mission with others was to locate the positions of the 1st Brigade of the 1st Division of the 15th Army Corps, of whose movements, especially of the 13th Illinois Regiment, he related interesting reminescences. At Ringold Gap he found the old house which had been used by him during the battle as an operating hospital, looking just the same as then. The house showed nearly a hundred bullet holes in its log sides. It was still occupied by members of the same family. He visited the National cemetery at Chattanooga, where he found but three names of the many boys of the 13th that fell in that vicinity. The graves of the rest were marked "unknown." Here rest in peace 12952 Union soldiers who fell in defense of their country.

Miss Flossie Lee, a lovely little lady of thirteen—adopted daughter of Ex-Prisoners of War Association of the State of Iowa and of Crocker Post G. A. R.—who accompanied her father, Comrade Frank Lee, from DesMoines, gave with charming effect a recitation entitled, "Glory of Mission Ridge and Look Out." She captured the hearts of her auditors with an indescribable mingling of sweet childlike grace and a mature appreciation to sublime scenes that touch the deepest natures.

A paper was read by Capt. Munn which purported to be a roster of the line officers of the 13th Regiment, and was full of personal and pleasantly humorous allusions. It was woven into rhyme, and its happy hits provoked many audible smiles.

General Henderson of the 112th Illinois, though in poor health, responded to the President's call for remarks, by expressing his pleasure at meeting so many old friends, and especially at again grasping the hands of men who had with him fought for the salvation of the nation. He made a touchingly eulogistic reference to Col. Wyman as of a well-loved personal friend. In reviewing the scenes of the war, it seemed to the speaker like a half forgotten dream; and he wondered if the boys of '61, now old men, mostly, would again be stirred as of old, should the call come, "To Arms." Many will read with pride the record of its achievments in the History of the Regiment. We are growing old and one by one following our gallant leaders gone before—Grant and Sherman, and Thomas, and McPherson and Logan. When we have all gone, the memories of our deeds in the dark days of our nation's history will be the proudest inheritance we can leave to our children.

At the close of the General's remarks, and interspersed throughout the subsequent exercises, the company was favored with music by the Dixon Mandolin Club.

Judge Crabtree, who had left his court business for a few hours to ming'e once more with his old comrades of the 13th, felt the fire of the old days warming up his blood, communion with old comrades giving strength and vigor to his overwrought system that it could not get from Uncle Sam's quinine. Though really in far from good physical health, he talked with his usual enthusiasm, declaring in reply to General Henderson's mild enquiry that the patriotism in the hearts of the old boys was unabated. He said that if there was anything in his life of which he was conspicuously proud, it was that on the 24th of May, 1861, he laid aside all thought of self, took his life in his hand, and with the rest of the boys swore to defend the nation's honor and the nation's life. The men of those days were actuated by pure patriotism; not by visions of wealth, or promotion, or fame. They marched to the front for $11 a month and the prospect of leaving their bones to bleach on Southern battle-fields. They didn't stop to think about it, either, but in hot haste sprang to answer the call for help in the nation's hour of need.

Comrade Everest of Chicago related some of the amusing things of the war, and related reminescences suplimentary to those of Surgeon Plummer as to the location of positions and movements of the regiment at Look Out Mountain and Mission Ridge.

Miss Flossie Lee then, on invitation of the President, stepped foward and with much feeling delivered the following address to the regiment.

"Mr. President and members of the 13th regiment:—It is a great pleasure and privilege for me to look into the faces of the old-time comrades and friends of my father, and to once at least be in your beautiful city, from whence the 13th regiment marched to those terrible scenes of war nearly thirty two years ago. I can hardly realize that my father was then but four years older than I am tonight. How little we young folks know of war; and I hope we may never know by such sad experience as you who saw it, and those who around the fireside at home were anxiously waiting for you to return; and how sad! sad!! to hear of those who could not, could not come back, but who "softly sleep where they wearied and lie where they fell," where upon their graves no tears shall ever be shed, or flowers strewn, except as the tear of dew shall fall or the wild flower lend its beauty and fragrance to adorn the spot.

It may be your blue-eyed darling,
Oh, mother, with snowy hair,
Who marched at his country's calling,
So young, so brave, so fair;
In the flush of his glad young manhood
He left you long ago,
If he be the lonely sleeper,
There is none but God may know.

Oh! wife, that mourned the lost one
Through all these lonely years;
Whose heart is weary waiting,
Whose eyes are dim with tears;
It may be the one that left you
To bravely meet the foe,
In the valley, or on the hillside.
None but God may know.

We love to read and hear you tell of those days of camp and battle, and should "Old Glory" again be fired upon, may we emulate the example of our fathers and mothers. Many scenes in your army life are fresh in your memory, and aside from "The Old Canteen," what do you remember more than

THE OLD COFFEE KETTLE.

How dear to your hearts are the days when you soldiered,
As fond recollection presents them to view;
The long line of earth-work, the deep tangled thicket,
And every rough spot that your army life knew.
The long parks of artillery, with harness and saddles;
The picket-roped horses, oft trying to roll;
The cook house, the guard tent, the muskets stacked nigh it;
And the old coffee kettle that hung on a pole.

CHORUS:—
The old coffee kettle,
That welcome old kettle,
That old coffee kettle that hung on a pole.

How dear to this day are the forms and the faces
Of those who stood by you in those trying times;
So many are gone from their ranks and their places,
It mightily shortens the original lines.
Hard marching and fighting you all well remember,
And every hing trying to body and soul;
Yet the one thing you had that was genuine in pleasure
Was the old coffee kettle that hung on a pole.

CHO:—

Thirteen dollars a month for your standing as target
For heaps of old lead and old iron and steel;
But they say you are better for what you endured then,
Though some of our veterans from poor house appeal.
You ate salt pork and hard-tack in all kinds of weather,
Some rations you drew, some others you stole;
But still your chums will forever remember
The old coffee kettle that hung on a pole.

CHO:—

How many good comrades are feeble old crippled,
Your hair growing gray with the fast fleeting time;
But though in this world is our muster roll shortened,
We know it grows longer in that happier clime.
Soon all of your comrades must pass o'er the river,
And leave all you have for the ferryman's toll;
But never till then can they make you surrender
The old coffee kettle that hung on a pole.

CHO:—

And yearly our rank of old soldiers will muster
To crown with love's offering each comrade's lone grave;
Sweet wreaths on Memorial Day o'er them will cluster,
Our whole land uniting to honor the brave.
Fresh voices of children in sweet chorus singing
The sacrifice telling of every true soul,
While to comrades 'mid war scenes that memory is bringing
Comes the old coffee kettle that hung on a pole.

CHO:—

This address and poem was received with storms of enthusiastic applause, and many a heart palpitated between smiles and tears.

J. G. Manahan of Sterling, made a very humerous speech; commencing with a fish problem most profound. As soon as he had gained attention he led the boys in imagination once more through a defile, in the attack on Vicksburg, and his exceedingly comic deliniation of the mode of approach and retreat was irresistably funny. He said that he has been puzzled ever since to know what we wanted with Vicksburg anyway; for as soon as we got it we left it, and when we had captured the confeds—more than Grant captured at Appomatox—we let em go again. Why so much trouble to take a place we didn't want and capture men we had no use for?

Comrade Manahan was followed with brief remarks from O. B. Wyman, a son of Col. Wyman, and from Comrade Chas. Carpenter; after which Miss Flossie gave a travesty of "Barbara Freitchie" in the German-English dialect, when the meeting adjourned. Though the hour was midnight, the boys were loath to part, and many of them congregated for an hour or more in the office of the hotel, singing the old army songs and relating the stories of camp life of which they never tire. And so ended one more glorious reunion of the grand old Thirteenth.

Hissong, the Horse Thief, Captured.

George Hissong, the horse thief, has returned to Lee county, and is now in jail. He came back from Iowa this morning, accompanied by Sheriff Stainbrook. The history of his late drive is as follows: With Sam Prettyman's horse and carriage, he drove northwest, and at Freemont, Carroll county, he traded the carriage for a road cart, taking a balance in money, and pushing on more rapidly he was soon in Iowa. At Mechanicsville in that state, he made a stop which proved fatal to his further progress. He sold the horse and cart and, with the money, purchased a new suit of clothes, shoes, hat, collar, cuffs, shirts, etc., and then met an officer who had received a postal card from Sheriff Stainbrook asking for his detention. While in jail there the man he had sold the horse to frightened him into giving up to him the new suit of clothes, so Hissong returned to Dixon as poorly dressed as when he left.
